Project 1 Team Contribution and Peer Evaluation Form

One form per team, filled in together, signed by every member, and submitted as a PDF in the project ZIP

Team members	Track (A or B)	Date
Ana Madrigal, Sydney Dailey, Katherine Vykhovanets	Track A: Phishing URLs	10/19/2026

Section A: Who did what

Member	Main responsibilities and deliverables (notebook sections, figures, report sections)	Share (%)	Approx. hours
Ana Madrigal	Collection Log, EDA notebook, Report, Slides, and Peer Evaluation Form	33.33	10-15 hours
Sydney Dailey	Collection Log, Modeling Notebook: features, models, and three-way evaluation, Report, Slides, and Peer Evaluation Form	33.33	10-15 hours
Katherine Vykhovanets	Collection Log, Datasheet & Curation, Dataset sample, Report, Slides, and Peer Evaluation Form	33.33	10-15 hours
Total		100%

Section B: Peer ratings

Criterion	1 (poor)	3 (as expected)	5 (outstanding)
Contribution: amount and quality of work delivered	Little usable work	Fair share, acceptable quality	More than their share, high quality
Reliability: deadlines, showing up, doing what was agreed	Missed commitments repeatedly	Kept commitments	Kept commitments and unblocked others
Communication: responsive, clear, constructive in disagreements	Hard to reach; unclear	Responsive and clear	Proactive; made the team work better
Technical judgment: caught errors, questioned results, thought about leakage and splits	Accepted results uncritically	Sanity-checked own work	Found problems in the team's work and fixed them

Ratings for member 1: Ana Madrigal

Criterion	Rating by: Sydney Dailey_	Rating by: Katherine Vykhovanets
Contribution	5	5
Reliability	5	5
Communication	5	5
Technical judgment	5	5

One thing this member did especially well (agreed by the team): Was flexible when we needed to change the graph data to fit the final curated dataset

One thing to do better next time (agreed by the team): Time management

Ratings for member 2: Sydney Dailey

Criterion	Rating by: Ana Madrigal	Rating by: Katherine Vykhovanets
Contribution	5	5

Criterion	Rating by: Ana Madrigal	Rating by: Katherine Vykhovanets
Reliability	5	5
Communication	5	5
Technical judgment	5	5

One thing this member did especially well (agreed by the team): Contributed useful ideas during meetings

One thing to do better next time (agreed by the team): Read directions fully so she doesn't have to redo things later.

Ratings for member 3: Katherine Vykhovanets

Criterion	Rating by: Ana Madrigal_____	Rating by: Sydney Dailey
Contribution	5	5
Reliability	5	5
Communication	5	5
Technical judgment	5	5

One thing this member did especially well (agreed by the team): Helped troubleshoot problems

One thing to do better next time (agreed by the team): Finish her part earlier since the rest of the project relied on the final dataset that she was responsible for

Section C: Team statement

The group met up about once a week throughout the duration of the project to discuss what we worked on and what to work on next. We decided to split the main parts of the project evenly: Katherine took the data portion, Ana took the EDA portion, and Sydney took the Modeling portion. During our meetings, we discussed our progress and communicated any questions or things we needed help with. We would also meet up to work together on portions such as the report and slides, so those responsibilities were shared among the group. Although we did not formally divide every small part of the project, everyone still contributed their fair share, and all the team members agreed that the work was split fairly. One thing we would organize differently next time is to ensure that everyone fully understands the project requirements before immediately starting the work. This would make sure that what we are doing matches what the guidelines are asking for, to prevent us from having to redo things later.
